

HICKMAN'S

FINE FERTILIZERS

Over the past seven years we have worked on making improvements to our turf conditions. As for everyone else, there are many layers of issues to tackle. However, for me organic quality and price have never been a problem. Hickman's has been a big component of our success over the years, and for that I am thankful. If you are concerned about getting a better product and don't mind saving dollars while you're doing it – then I would recommend you pick up the phone. Sometimes it really is that easy.

David R. Dube
Terravita

We are committed to the quality of our products and feel that they provide the needs and balance necessary to promote healthy growth, productivity, and appearance without the use of chemically enhanced fertilizers.

- Less dust than most other fertilizers
- OMRI approved
- Part of our food safety procedures are rigid lot sampling for all food pathogens
- Products comes in 20-lb. retails bags, 50-lb. poly bags, and bulk totes to specific weights (500 lb.-2,000 lb.) to meet customers' capabilities
- We have bulk trailers and flatbeds with all-terrain forklifts.

Pictures taken recently at Terravita Golf Club in Scottsdale, Arizona. Poultry waste, as the key ingredient in all of Hickman's Fine Fertilizers, is the by-product of several million laying hens at the Hickman's facility in Arlington, Arizona. The hens are fed a carefully controlled diet consisting of the best grains and feeds available.

HICKMAN'S

FINE FERTILIZERS

For more information, please contact:
Larry Allison at 602-980-1183, or email lallison@hickmanseggs.com